Geometric releases “eDrawings Professional for NX” version 5.2 Includes support for NX 5.

Mumbai, India. June 5th 2007

Geometric Software Solutions Co. Ltd., a leading provider of Global Engineering, and Product Lifecycle Management (PLM) solutions and technologies, today announced the release of “eDrawings Professional for NX” version 5.2 with support for NX 5.

The major enhancements in this release of eDrawings Professional for NX include:

- Support for NX 5
- 64-bit support for NX 4 and NX 5
- Support for exporting hidden components into eDrawings assembly files.
- Stamping of images and logo in generated eDrawings files

A free 30-day trial version of eDrawings Professional for NX can be downloaded from <http://edrawings.geometricsoftware.com>. Purchase and pricing details can be obtained from ed.sales@geometricsoftware.com.

About eDrawings Publishers:

eDrawings Publishers are available on NX, Pro/ENGINEER, CATIA V5, Inventor, SolidEdge and SketchUp. They are useful in carrying out the following design operations:

- Generating ultra compact eDrawings with compression upto 95%, compared to the original CAD file.
- Sharing and receiving feedback on product designs with review-enabled eDrawings, and collaboration with unlimited number of recipients.
- Managing, tracking, and merging comments from different team members.
- Sharing design data with password protected and self-extracting eDrawings.
- Measuring the geometry in part, assembly, and drawing files in the absence of dimensions.
- Disabling measurement feature to protect sensitive design data.
- Examining internal details of parts and assemblies with dynamic cross sectioning.
- Hiding, showing and moving components to enhance assembly structure recognition.
